Tennessee State Fair, 1856.

To be held at Nashville, commencing Monday, October 13, and continuing during the Week, by the Davidson County Agricultural Society and the Tennessee Mechanics' Institute co-operating with the State Agricultural Bureau.

FASHIONS FOR OCTOBER.

THE BIENNIAL STATE FAIR.

The first Biennial Tennessee State Fair commenced at the Walnut Race Course, in the vicinity of this place, yesterday, and will continue during the week. The day was devoted to the Exhibition of Woolen, Cotton, Silk and Hempen and Flax fabrics, Needle Work, Embroidery, &c., &c., each of which branches of domestic industry was creditably represented; though in extent and variety the exhibition fell short of that last year. A list of the premiums and certificates awarded will be published hereafter. As, heretofore, Sumner county bore off the palm most triumpantly.
